Verres

Vs

Cicero

“BC” stands for “Before Christ,” a designation used in the Gregorian calendar to label years before the estimated birth of Jesus Christ. It is typically used in historical contexts to mark years in the timeline of ancient history, for example, 500 BC refers to 500 years before the birth of Christ.

- The alternative to BC is “AD,” which stands for “Anno Domini” (Latin for “In the Year of Our Lord”), referring to the years following Christ's birth. Together, BC and AD are used to divide the historical timeline.
